

Dear Hiring Team,

I am a frontend development student with 20 years of experience as a technical writer in cross-functional environments. My background combines technical precision with user-focused communication, and I enjoy creating clear, accessible digital experiences.

I learn new systems quickly and work in a structured, analytical way. Through my experience with UI text, documentation, process improvement and quality assurance, I have developed a strong understanding of how to communicate complex information clearly and effectively. I work well in agile, cross-functional teams and understand how design, development and content come together throughout the development lifecycle.

I am excited about opportunities where I can contribute to clear user experiences and modern front-end development. Thank you for taking the time to review my application. I look forward to the possibility of contributing to your team.

Best regards,

Eva Marie Andersen